Bad Symptoms.

The woman who has periodical headaches, backache, sees imaginary dark spots or specks floating or dancing before her eyes, has gnawing distress or heavy full feeling in stomach, faint spells, dragging-down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily startled or excited, irregular or painful periods, with or without pelvic catarrh, is suffering from weakness and derangements that should have early attention. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and such cases often run into maladies which demand the surgeon's knife if they do not result fatally.

No medicine extant has such a long and numerous record of cures in such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong professional endorsement of each of its ingredients—worth more than any number of ordinary non-professional testimonials. The very best ingredients known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments enter into its composition. No alcohol, harmful, or habit-forming drug is to be found in the list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath.

In any condition of the female system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad unpleasant symptoms follow. Too much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will assist in the cure of all taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

GORDON'S FAREWELL.

What Senator Depew characterized as the most unique farewell ever delivered in the Senate chamber was heard there yesterday when at the close of the session and at the end of his term, Senator James Gordon, of Mississippi, said good-bye to the senators with whom he had served for the past 60 days.

Colonel Gordon spoke for perhaps half an hour and when he had concluded Senator Depew addressed the chair, saying he never had heard or read any speech of the kind which was so unique and so impressive as the one which had just been delivered to the Senate. The New York senator said he was sure he would be the sentiment of all the members of the Senate when he expressed regret over the passing of the Mississippian.

"No matter," he said, "how wonderful a colleague succeeds him he cannot be James Gordon of Mississippi."

Practically the entire Senate listened with rapt attention to the address of the venerable Mississippian. He stood back of his own desk, on the extreme right of the vice president, and in homely phrase and almost without gesture talked to his colleagues as if they had been oldtime friends. Twice he quoted from his own book of verse, which he afterwards presented to the vice president. His remarks were frequently punctuated with applause and laughter. The galleries were well filled and the occupants of them joined freely in the manifestations of approval on the floor.

Beginning with the statement that the deadlock in Mississippi had been broken and that Mr. Percy had been chosen to take his place, Colonel Gordon said that he had felt a desire to express his feelings toward the Senate before returning to his home in Mississippi.

"I was born a multi-millionaire," said Colonel Gordon, "but I never was happy until I got rid of my surplus money. I spent much of it on my slaves and the rest of my funds I spent like a gentleman and got rid of my entire income."

"I have listened with interest to the speeches here and the more I hear of them the sorer I am for the millionaires. Why, if there is a fellow in the United States that I am sorry for, it is Rockefeller, because he has more money than anyone else. That is his misfortune. He can't go on the street with one of his grandchildren unless he is afraid that someone might kill him. Why, I know that he loves one of those children much better than he loves all the money he has got."

"I think Mr. Rockefeller is a good man. I see his employees speak well of him, and I am told that he never had a strike. I am told also that he has given much money to churches and education. Now I don't suppose that everybody will like that, but those who don't like it can put it in their pipes and smoke it. I'd like for Mr. Rockefeller to come down to Mississippi and run his pipe lines through my land. He could have the right of way for all the lines he wanted, for I know that in my time coal oil has been reduced from 40 cents to 10 cents per gallon."

Referring to the fact that he had been a Confederate soldier Mr. Gordon said:

"I fought and bled, but didn't die. However, I skedaddled frequently."

He then told of some of his exploits in the war and of how he had captured General Coburn, of Indiana, and General Shafter. Shafter, he said, had fired at him five different times during the Confederate charge without hitting him. Paying a tribute to soldiers of both the north and south, Colonel Gordon said:

"You may as well try to storm the heights of heaven and pluck the diadem from Jehovah's crown as to take away from either of them any of the glory of the records of the two men who stood under the tree at Appomattox and brought the war to a close."

"This is the finest body of men that I ever associated with," he continued, speaking of the Senate itself, and he bemoaned upon his colleagues.

Referring to Senator Heyburn's recent protest against General Lee's statue being allowed to remain in Statuary Hall, Colonel Gordon invited Senator Heyburn to visit him on his plantation, and said that he was sure that after the Idaho senator had seen the south through his spectacles he would take off his hat to Lee, as he (Gordon) was willing to doff his to Grant.

DEMAND MONEY OF WIDOW.

New York detectives last night arrested two small boys, whom they charge with sending a Black Hand letter to Mrs. Henry O. Havemeyer, widow of the former head of the American Sugar Refining Company. The letter was received by Mrs. Havemeyer on February 18. It contained a demand for $2,500 and threatened to blow up her home and destroy everybody in it unless their demands were complied with.

"We demand $2,500 of you as a Black Hand organization contribution," the writers said, "and if not forthcoming we will blow up your house and kill your whole family. We have 488 members scattered all over the world. You cannot escape us. Do not tell the police or anybody else, for your family will suffer only."

"If you do, no matter if you offer us $100,000 we will not let up. Rich people pay our demands, and they have no more bother, and we protect them. If you do not, we will blow up your house and destroy everybody in it with revolver or dagger, and send them poisoned food."

At this point the text of the letter is interrupted by a rough sketch of a heart pierced by a dagger, a revolver and a bottle marked "Poison."

"After you pay the $2,500, you will be free of all expenses. Take 25 $100 bills on February 24, Thursday evening, between 8 and 9 o'clock. Deposit it in a tin box, which you will find in leaves on the ground close at the park wall of first light post at right hand, small entrance to Central Park, between Sixty-sixth and Sixty-seventh streets, opposite your house, and let it stay there until you will get a letter from us that we received it."

A one-dollar bill was wrapped around some paper, placed in a tin box and deposited where requested. The boys secured the box and the detectives scoured them. The youths, one of whom is nine years old, say men sent them for the box.

OVERLAND CARS.

The greatest AUTOMOBILE demand in the history of the business is predicted for the season of 1910. Only by putting in an order for your car now and specifying the date of delivery will we be able to take care of your order promptly. The shortage of freight cars, the scarcity of materials, the rush of spring orders, and the natural congestion of the automobile business in the spring all work together to prevent prompt deliveries. Therefore, order now and get your car when you want it.
